ABOUT ROBERT BRAIN

Robert has developed a passion for the share market, technical analysis (price charts) and share price charting software over recent years since the time of the infamous Tech Wreck (March 2000).

He is acknowledged as a very proficient BullCharts software user and educator, with a good knowledge of the share market, and technical analysis (interpreting price charts).

As a computer power-user, he has been using the Australian BullCharts charting software since mid-2005, and he is the convenor of the Australian BullCharts User Group (and authorised re-seller).

Robert also has many years of experience at writing simplified technical documentation for computer users, as well as a range of newsletters. He has also delivered many presentations and training sessions, and facilitated at conferences.

He is also a member and office-bearer of the ATAA (Australian Technical Analysts Association).

Robert operates Brainy's Share Market Toolbox web-based business.

The Toolbox includes lots of free stuff;
but a lot is reserved exclusively for

* Why "Brainy"?

"I need to differentiate myself and my products and services from others in the market place.

So I am using one of the nicknames I had in High School."

"The share market can seem mystical and almost like black magic; but with the right support and assistance, it just seems like magic."
